ANNOUNCEMENTS

BREED THEATER.

The Marvelous Pathe Weekly, the wonder of all who see it at the Th ed. It is always interesting, but today it is so wide in its scope as to meet the demands of everyone, and carries a series of events that cannot full to be most absorbing. It is of more than usual local interest this week, for it pictures the great railroad wreck at Btonington, showing it in all its detail, and including views of it from all advariageous points. Besides it shows Morton F. Plant's beautiful salling racht winning the great race at Larch-mont. Al of the other boats in their warfous classes are shown in the big of the film.

The Detective's Conscience is a superior story of the life of moonshiners, and besides its exceedingly thrilling plot is photographed in a singularly beautiful locality, adding much to the good it. There are several moonlight that win the admiration of the Special Town Meeting Called.

The selectmen have called a special lows meeting for next Saturday afterneon to see if it will be voted to have three instead of five selectmen. Those who favor the reduction in the num-ber of officials point out that the state how takes over a practical supervision of the main highways of towns and, that being the case, there is no need of more than three selectmen.

Sessette Bound to Have the Tax. In Brooklyn today (Tuesday) Tax Collector John M. There have been no developments in the Windham County Savings bank nation during the past week. The ecking-up process continues, but will be nothing definite to anuffdence with which the bank's de-ositors await the outcome. One might ist in Danielson for days without most wholly negligible. This has been indicated from the first. in considering the bank's case, inancial man said Monday that i legislature enact a law requiring each savings bank in the state to call in its pussbooks at least as often as once in five years, that the entries upon them might be verified, preventing such a difficulty as the local bank has experienced. Such an arrangement would prevent a certain class of errors from naining undetected for many years East Killingly Wants Five Selectmen as at Present.

The plan to reduce the board of setmen from five to three is received in Danielson with great favor, but in the Taird district of the town, which includes East Killingly, it is not so popular. The most important special town meeting this year is anticipated when the matter comes up for settle-ment on Saturday. It is said in Danion will be made by tabling the prop favor want immediate action.

POETRY THE CLOUDBURST.

Born 'mid the crags and spires Of the lofty mountain peak, Born 'mid the lightning's fires, The dusty plains I seek.

Down through the forest spaces. I rush like an angry steed: Tis the maddest of all mad races. Let those in my path take heed. Where are the bonds to hold me? Over the banks I foam; Away from the heights that fouled me I dash for my sea-sait home.

In vain shall they try to head me—
My course is clear o'er the plain;
Mark how the bravest dread me—
The avalanche of the rain.
—Arthur Chapman, in the Denver Republican.

When outward from the dark a new We hear the habe's first cry before it mons come That bid the longing cease, the lips of one who clings to earth and clings one low werene contented sigh is all.
Such as a heart gives when great burdens fall—
The sigh of one renewing vanished biles.
